It is expected that the new "Y" home will be a four story building of class A construction. A large men's lobby, double lobby for boys, gymnasium, swimming tank and seventy-five dormitory rooms in addition to educational and social quarters to be included. Figures obtained from a survey made of the building site on North Louise street have been forwarded with other data to the New York office. The local architects will commence work as soon as the eastern building experts complete the rough drafts, Mr. McDill said.

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 6.—There were five additional diphtheria cases today in Nome's epidemic, but official determination of the cases will not be made until tonight. No new cases were reported officially.

Whether new serum will be rushed here by airplane from Fairbanks, depending on the report of the fight against the disease. Until Dr. Welch gives the word it was regarded as unlikely that the flyers would leave Fairbanks. Scott C. Bone, governor of Alaska, sent word here that he was opposed to the flight because of the great danger the flyers would encounter in the storm-ridden country.

Operators Believe Big Fall In May Futures Due to Fleischmann Death

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The price of May wheat broke sharply in the market here today and tumbled 10 cents before the sale of stop loss orders came to a close and checked the falling market. President of Julius Fleischmann, president of the Fleischmann Yeast company, yesterday at Miami, Fla., was given as the probable cause of the break by several of the best informed men in the grain pits.

Fleischmann, a heavy operator in the grain market, was known to have been 5,000,000 bushels long in May wheat, and it was rumored on receipt of news of his death, brokers released his big holdings and forced the price down.

3-DAY FIESTA PLANNED IN GLENDALE

'Know Glendale' Celebration To Acquaint People With Attractions

A great three-day "Know Glendale" celebration under the auspices of the Glendale Realty board will be held, according to plans now under consideration. Definite action was taken to stage the affair at a meeting of the civic committee of the Glendale Realty board today at the offices of Twining & Myers on West Broadway. J. M. Boland, vice-president of the board, is chairman of the civic committee.

The celebration will take the form of a three-day fiesta during which every industrial plant, business and professional institution and other points of interest will be thrown open for the inspection of the Glendale public. It is the plan to stage the "Know Glendale" fiesta on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. On Saturday a huge parade with floats depicting features of Glendale industrial and commercial life, bands, and many other attractions, will be staged. Every organization in the city will be invited to parade.

Saturday night the three-day celebration will be brought to a close in a blaze of glory with a carnival, street dancing and a full program of hilarity and joy reigning until midnight. Definite dates for the staging of the celebration were not set by the realtors at their meeting today. A time in the near future will be chosen which will not conflict with any affairs already planned. President W. L. Twining said. A committee to lay plans and carry out details of the program will be appointed within a few days. Mr. Boland will head the general committee.

'Flying General' Stirs Capitol With Charges

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Brigadier-General William Mitchell took the lid off the aircraft investigation today with a bang and clatter that shocked official Washington.

Bringing his fight for a greater air service into the open, General Mitchell charged flatly that not only are the war and navy departments inefficiently conducting their air service, but that the navy department deliberately hindered the air-bombing experiments conducted by the joint army-navy air services off the Virginia capes in 1921. General Mitchell's grave and sensational charges were laid before the special congressional committee that is investigating the aircraft situation.

The youth, who resides in the same neighborhood where the girls lived, was known to have acted in such a manner as to cause much comment among the neighbors, according to the officers. The older man was a resident of Belvedere section and was alleged in reports to the officers to have attempted to lure children to his home.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 6.—Mrs. Margaret W. Rowen, the "prophetess" of the Reformed Seventh-day Adventist church, who predicted that the world would end at midnight tonight has today fled from the home of Dr. B. E. Fullmer, leader of the cult here, under fear of violence. Dr. Fullmer admitted today that Mrs. Rowen had fled following threats received by mail and telephone, some of which were said to have been made against her life by antagonists of her prediction. Dr. Fullmer refused to reveal where Mrs. Rowen had gone.

CALIFORNIA WAS BEFORE PYRAMIDS

Naturalist Find Remains Of Prehistoric Life Pre-dates Egypt

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 6.—Countless centuries before the Pharaoh-lashed slaves of Egypt toiled in the Valley of the Nile to build the world famous Pyramids, a great Mongol nation thrived in the southern region of the California coast. This was the opinion expressed here today by Harold Gladwin, curator of the Santa Barbara museum of natural history, and D. B. Rogers, lately of the Smithsonian Institute of Washington, D. C., following the discovery in the vicinity during the past week of skeletons, fossils, and other indications of pre-historic man, deeply embedded in rock that has been stratified for ages.

From the shape of the excavated skulls, Messrs Gladwin and Rogers believe that the ancient race was of Mongolian origin, and that it was this race which in the course of evolution became the American Indian type found on the western hemisphere by the early European discoverers.

Sister of Harvard's President Dies In Fall

LAMB BRIDES WAIT TRIP ON CLOUD

Reformed Adventists, Attired In Sunday Best, Set For World's End

By ROLAND KREBS For International News Service. EAST PATCHOGUE, N. Y., Feb. 6.—This odd little town became a grandstand today for watching "the end of the world," forecast by the Reformed Seventh-Day Adventists to begin at midnight tonight.

Automobile and Long Island trains brought crowds to East Patchogue intent on enjoying the preparations of Robert Reidt and about thirty-five followers for their hejira to Heaven on a cloud.

Reidt, his wife, their four children and others who believe with Mrs. Margaret Rowen of Los Angeles, Cal., that storms, pestilence and devastating miracles will visit earth within the seven days beginning at midnight, planned to go to a hill near here tonight and await the cloud that will waft them to the Golden stair via Hollywood and San Diego, Cal., and Jupiter.

Brother Willard Downs, of Yaphank, one of Reidt's most ardent and prayerful followers, offered his bicycle for sale today for five dollars.

Extra details of state troopers will be on hand, over Reidt's protest, to protect him and his "brides of the Lamb." They have been guarded for several days, because devout Italians of another faith, living in a settlement hard by the Reidt home, have voiced their disapproval of this creed. The "apostle of doom" has received several threatening notes.

Waits Golden Hour

Reidt told interviewers today that he was tired of being misrepresented. He said he wished it understood that he had not predicted the earth would sink into oblivion on the stroke of twelve. It will be gradual and awful, he said.

The apostle believes he will be presented with a golden harp upon his arrival in Heaven. Until he gets that instrument, he confided, he will make music with his zither while traveling with his cohorts on the cloud.

All is in readiness in the Reidt circle. Reidt has had his suit pressed. Mrs. Reidt has an elegant brown dress. Brother Downs has a gorgeous blue tie.

Movie House Wrecked When Bomb Explodes

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 6.—A motion picture theatre was blown up by a bomb and one suspect was killed by a policeman as he tried to break away at his home early today. FUR BANDITS GET BIG HAUL
NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Six bandits held up employees of a fur warehouse today, loaded $100,000 worth of furs into a truck and escaped, in full view of hundreds of passersby. The furs had been stored in the warehouse by United States customs.

SENATE ACTS TO PROTECT HELIUM
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The world's greatest supply of helium, the non-inflammable gas for airships, would be conserved in this country for the use of America's aerial defenses, under terms of a bill reported favorably today by the Senate military affairs committee. With experts declaring more helium is stored in Texas oil fields than in all the rest of the world, the bill would place an embargo on the exportation of the precious gas.

BLOODHOUNDS SEEK CAVE MAN

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 6.—Bloodhounds were to be sent into Sand cave today, in an effort to carry food to Floyd Collins, imprisoned cave explorer. The dogs, with casks of liquid food tied about their necks, were also to serve as a check on the radio test, from which it was concluded that Collins is still alive. If the animals can force their way down the tortuous passage, now probably virtually choked with loose debris, shaken down by the vibration of drilling for the shaft, the owners say they will bark, if, at the end, they come to a dead man.

Prepared For Doomsday? Await 'Sign' At Midnight!

Lotta Persons Doubtful!

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—The rest of the world is not supposed to be in on the predicted end of the world tonight. It is a "secret," according to Dr. B. E. Fullmer, confidential associate of Mrs. Margaret Rowen, the prophetess, and the public at large "is not supposed to know about it."

Those sharing this sensational secret "privately" are the "Reformed" Seventh Day Adventists, whose seer is Mrs. Rowen. Some eight years ago she had a visit from the Angel Gabriel, according to Dr. Fullmer, and about a year and a half ago she announced that Gabriel had confirmed the date of the world's end to her as February 6, 1925, at midnight.

Mrs. Rowen and her sect seem to have their own definition of the end of the world, for, according to Dr. Fullmer: "It may not be accomplished by actual physical destruction of the globe and its peoples, but, rather, by a sign in the sky—a great light, perhaps, or a storm—I do not know just what."

Mrs. Rowen, the prophetess, is unable to furnish any information, as she has disappeared, fleeing to escape from threatened death, it is said. Certain of the "Reformed" Seventh Day Adventists declare she has gone to her estate near San Diego, to prepare for the end."

Dr. Fullmer is not turning any patients away from his offices at 1112 Gower street, Hollywood, it is said, and rumor goes even so far as to say he is making appointments for tomorrow, the day after the "end of the world."

In the funeral parlors of Mrs. H. S. Brewer, 5003 South Figueroa street, Los Angeles, lies the body of Mrs. Ruby, who died Monday, February 2, 1925. The funeral was to have been held this morning, but orders from "Reformed" headquarters have postponed the ceremony "indefinitely," in the declared belief that "the deceased will participate in the resurrection attendant upon the Lord's coming."

It was in the home of Mrs. Ruby, at 114 East Thirty-first street, Los Angeles, that Mrs. Rowen is said to have had her first vision of the world's end. Twenty-four hours before her death, Mrs. Ruby told the seeress she had received assurance she would live to see the Savior.

Sad Mistake Is Made By Religious Fanatics

VALLEY JUNCTION, Iowa, Feb. 6.—This town was somewhat recompensed today for its loss of sleep when it learned that old Jerry Brown, city marshal, had been mistaken for the great Jehovah by a group of Holy Rollers, whose demonstrations in preparation for the coming of the world's end had kept the citizens awake until a late hour last night.

Brown led a squad of deputy sheriffs into the religious fanatics' church, following complaints from neighbors that they could not sleep on account of the racket. As the guardian of the peace he threw back his coat, revealing a star, and announced "I am the law."

The leader of the group who was praying over a bath tub of water with a naked baby in his arms, dropped the infant with a

RUSH WORK ON SHAFT WHILE NEW HOPE REMAINS

Radio Indicates Prisoner Is Living; Mother Arrives At Tomb of Son

By CARL W. HARRIS For International News Service

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 6.—"I'm alive." This was the message from the bowels of Sand cave today, read in the faint staccato ticking of a microphone.

It was the message made possible by the miracle of the age—radio—and it rekindled the spark of hope and faith which, as the dawn of the seventh day of futile rescue effort broke over these cavernous hills, was dwindling to the vanishing point.

The word spread like wildfire through this little town. It was the morning greeting of the grim-faced men who walk about its streets. Even the putt-putt of gasoline engines, sounding strangely foreign as they toiled among virgin rock about the floor of the cave pit seemed to be shouting the news.

"He lives! He lives! He lives!" And the furious digging which through the night had put the "dead or alive" shaft down a total of approximately fifteen feet, took on a new aspect of grim determination.

Air Being Heated

It was H. Riley of Bowling Green and Morton Weldy of Glasgow, who brought about the revival of hope. They arrived here late last night with a double radio amplifier—really a microphone in the strict sense of the word—a phone attachment which greatly magnifies all sound coming into it.

A hot-air blast was being sent today through the rock to the cavern where Collins lies imprisoned, to keep alive the spark of life which sent its message through the radio amplifier.

More rescue attempts had arrived. It included a diamond drill with which it is planned to cut a small cylinder of the rock from a point beside the shaft.

This cylinder will be drawn out and turned over to geologists here, who will analyze the rock sections it contains, and will then be able to predict with a fair degree of accuracy the exact length of time which will be consumed in cutting the shaft. This depends largely on the rock formation with which the drillers meet. Thus far no solid rock has been encountered, and the digging has been progressing at the rate of about two feet every three hours. This, according to estimates, would bring the shaft to Collins' trap some time Sunday. If solid rock is encountered, however, it will require blasting and rescue work will be slowed materially. One chance of an early rescue still remained. Collins told men who went to him early in the rescue work that he had found a beautiful cave, high-ceilinged and roomy, which lay just behind him, and if the shaft drillers strike this, the work will be cut to a minimum.

Girls Give Away Toys As 'World's End' Is Near

EAST PATCHOGUE, L. I., Feb. 6.—Esther Reidt, the 6-year-old daughter to Robert Reidt, who believes tonight at midnight will witness the crack of doom, has disposed of the last of her toys so she will be prepared for ascension into Heaven.

In her simple faith she gave two battered dolls and a false face to some Italian children living in the neighborhood. Her sister Ernie has also given away her toys.

The little girls and their two brothers have been the subject of all their schoolmates' jokes for a week. They have been stoned on their way home and the boys have been beaten.

Two Put In Hospital For Throwing Away Goods

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The possibility that the Lord has seen the world "end" and felt that he still wishes it to save itself and has extended the period of probation" was expressed here today by Brother Aplin, leader of the Rowenite colony which is waiting for the world to come to an end.

Members of the colony gathered today in a little cabin in Takoma park to wait for the sign of the second coming of Christ, having sold all their property to be ready for the ascent into Heaven unencumbered by worldly goods. Two negroes were in a hospital for mental observation after they predicted the end of the world and threw away all their belongings.

Seventh-day Adventists Call Prediction 'Nonsense'

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Chicago Seventh-Day Adventists today weren't worrying about the end of the world predicted for midnight by California members of the "Reformed" branch of their church. In fact, they didn't believe it.

"That sort of nonsense is confined to a few former members of the church in California who have been put out of the church because of their foolish ideas," said Rev. C. E. Peters, pastor of a leading Adventist church here.

Two speakers from the Chamber of Commerce will address the crowd, and music will be furnished by Community Service. The Glendale Advancement association will take an active part in the celebration. C. W. Ingledue is president of the association. Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production, will turn on the "juice" for the lights.

Glendale Avenue's 'White Way' Program Is Being Completed

Tentative plans for the celebration in connection with the turning on of the lights on Glendale avenue, Saturday night, February 14, were announced today by W. H. Mills, chairman of the program committee of the Glendale Advancement association, which is sponsoring the celebration. The event will open with an automobile parade, to form at Glendale avenue and Broadway at 7 o'clock. The parade will move along Glendale avenue, where the new lights will be inspected. Efforts are being made to secure the lobby of the new hotel as the scene of a gathering scheduled for 8 o'clock that night. If the lobby of the new hotel cannot be used, the gathering will be held in front of the hotel at Glendale avenue and Broadway, Mr. Mills said.

DISTRICT HEAD GIVES ADVICE TO WOMEN

Club Presidents Talk to Members of Thursday Organization

Mrs. Charles H. Toll, district president, and Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, were speakers yesterday at the meeting of the Thursday Afternoon club. This was the first visit of Mrs. Toll, "mother of the district," and her presence and inspiring message were encouraging to the members of the organization, who are this year making an effort to build a clubhouse.

"Sympathy, service and security" as the characteristics of the underlying principles of success in business (quoting from a speech by Walter Dexter of Whittier college) was the theme of her talk. She said:

"There is business underlying all club work. The time of workers in all clubs has been taken up with business of some kind in hand and it was from combining all these forces that the federation grew. You are part of the district federation, state federation and general federation. But it is from the general federation that you receive your greatest help. Are you applying sympathy in a way that makes for the greatest success? In a woman's club you have people with every shade of belief and you must have tolerance, you must cultivate a broader sense of viewing things that are brought to you; the petty things must be forgotten; you grow more open-minded, broader-minded, year after year, in this wide contact."

"Service" Defined
 "Service" has been defined as "the rent we pay for the space we occupy in this world." What we do with what we have is the great test of our development. Clubs founded on narrowness cannot come in contact with clubs of the federation without becoming broader-minded. One of the happiest things in connection with my office as president is contained in letters that come to me, telling of the kindly things done here and

For Council

FRANK BOOTH, the tenth to receive more than fifty nominations in The Glendale Evening News' nominations for City Council campaign, now being conducted. Who's next?

When The Glendale Evening News announced that it would receive nominations for city councilmen, it was stated that all who received fifty or more nominations would have their pictures published, also a brief biography. It happens that Frank Booth is the tenth proposed candidate to receive fifty or more nominations, so his picture appears above and following is a brief story about him.

Simultaneously with the announcement that Frank Booth of 111 South Kenwood street is back again in the coffee and tea business, comes the news that he has passed the fifty mark of votes by readers of The Glendale Evening News and is thus nominated for councilman at the election of April 14.

Mr. Booth was born in London, England, January 4, 1864. Fifty years ago he was a choir boy in Westminster Abbey and twenty-five years ago he had the honor of singing before the late Queen Victoria and the royal family, at Windsor castle. For this her majesty presented him with a gold stickpin, which he has ever since treasured.

After an Oxford university education, Mr. Booth served through the Boer war in South Africa, under Lord Roberts. He came to Southern California over twenty years ago, settling in Glendale almost at once. The generation of fifteen to seventeen years ago will remember the "coffee king," who used to call at their homes with a weekly supply of coffee and tea.

Mr. Booth announces that he

NOTED FLYERS TO GATHER IN CITY

Aviators to Participate in Aerial Meet Sponsored By Local C. of C.

The first aeronautical meet ever to be staged by an American chamber of commerce is assured for Glendale on March 14 and 15, with plans for the sponsoring of the monster air demonstration by the Glendale chamber completed. Dr. T. C. Young, director; Councilman Sam A. Davis and Vice-President George B. Karr will form the Chamber of Commerce committee in charge of arrangements.

Two outstanding results will be sought from the great air meet here. First, the underlying motive of prompting the meet will be the advancement of commercial flying in Southern California. For this reason the principal events on the two-day program will be practical demonstrations and tests bearing on aeronautical influences in commercial life. Secondly, an official flying organization to be known as the Southern California Aeronautical association, the only one of its kind in the southwest, will be launched at a dinner on Saturday night, March 14, when noted flyers from all parts of California and Chamber of Commerce representatives of every city and town from San Luis Obispo south, will be in attendance.

This association, destined to become the dominant factor in air development in the state, will immediately affiliate with the International Flying association. Headquarters will in all probability be established here in Glendale.

Delegates to Fly
 With a view of demonstrating to the lay world the possibilities of commercial and general aviation, each chamber of commerce in Southern California will be urged to send at least one delegate by airplane to the meet. Each community in addition will be expected to have one flying representative in attendance. Official heads of all flying fields in the southwest and all commandants of army and navy aeronautic stations will also attend.

Famous Detective Will Keep His Eagle Eye On Players At Lions' Meet

Phss! Shady work is feared at the Oakmont Country club, and a famous detective has been assigned to shadow the place on the day thereof. In short, murder is anticipated—or perhaps it would be better to call it manslaughter—or, no, that isn't just the word, either. Golf-ball-slaughter is just the word!

Fearing that the good old Scotch game will be accorded violence when the Glendale and Los Angeles dens of Lions start tangling drivers and brassies, in their forthcoming golf tournament, Nick Harris has decided to come out in person and look things over. It is said that he will wear the disguise of an amateur golf enthusiast. The date of the event is set for late in February.

To get an advance line on the fell work planned, this famous detective is understood to be doing a little advance sleuthing. He has under surveillance Albert D. Pearce, president of the Glendale Union High School Board of Trustees and chairman of the golf tournament committee for the local den of Lions;

W. B. Kelly, president of the den; and Drs. J. E. Eckles, W. B. Walker and A. L. Munger, all members of the Glendale den and golf enthusiasts pari passu.

Nick Harris has already broadcast the news to the nation, over a Los Angeles radio station, that he is coming to Glendale to participate in the forthcoming tourney, as a member of the Angel City den of Lions.

"I owe all my success as a crime-hound to years of practice in hunting golf balls up hill and down dale, over the multifarious golf links of America," the great detective is attributed as having said, "and my prowess in getting out of tight places was developed in extricating that tricky little pill from all manner of traps and hazards."

NEW THEATRE IS PLAN OF PLAYERS

Florence Dobinson Promises New Institution by Next Fall

The Playhouse theatre, at Central and Lexington, Glendale, is at last achieving the popularity it deserves.

In point of beauty and elegance of appointments and furnishings there is not a finer small theatre in Southern California, but because of its location, two blocks off the main Glendale thoroughfare, Brand boulevard, it has not in the past received the patronage that is its due. It was erected by the Tuesday Afternoon club in connection with the clubhouse at the corner of Central and Lexington avenues. No expense was spared in construction and the group of buildings in mission style have been show-places in Glendale.

Patronage of the theatre has rapidly extended, however, since Florence Dobinson, best known exponent of the spoken drama in this part of the state, secured a lease of it for the Dobinson Players. Since last fall this clever

Clouds Dally Coily To Give Out Moisture

Though rain-filled clouds have dalled coily with the earth for over twenty-four hours, they have yielded little if any to her blandishments. In the Glendale territory, .05 of an inch of rainfall was all that was registered during the period, according to measurements of H. E. Bartlett, 333 West Broadway, who has kept tabs on old Jap. Pluvius for over a decade. The season total now stands at 3.47 inches, compared with 2.42 inches this time last year.

Father Ricard, professor of astronomy and meteorology at Santa Clara university, and familiarly known as "the padre of the rains," predicted the present moist spell well in advance and names February 7, 8 and 9 as the days when "a severe disturbance will accumulate over the northwest gradually cutting its way down south of Tehachapi, delivering rain where it is needed."

THE HOME TOWN PAPER

Southern California Business in a recent issue pays quite a compliment to the home town paper. This journal says that people who find fault with the local chamber of commerce for not getting out more "boost" literature could do a great deal themselves by sending out the literature that comes into their hands in the form of the home paper.

The Glendale Evening News does not need to throw out any hints to the effect that copies of The News are good community publicity matter. Every time we have published a special edition of the paper the people of Glendale have literally bombarded the eastern states with these papers. But perhaps it has been overlooked that there is something in each day's issue of The News that would be of interest to those who are far away and that sending frequent copies of The News to friends in the east would be a cheap and easy way of advertising our community and dispelling any false reports about conditions here.

"Not infrequently that 'wide place in the road' becomes a real town," says Southern California Business, "and when it does, one may rest assured that that newspaper that seemed to have had no excuse for beginning life had a very important part to play in the community's unexpected development."

We crave pardon here for calling attention to the humble beginnings of The Glendale Evening News. When we purchased the Weekly News, changed it to a daily and added new machinery to the mechanical equipment it was said that there was no excuse for a daily paper in Glendale and that the owner was displaying poor business judgment. We may be presumptuous, but we feel that The Glendale Evening News has had some part in "the community's unexpected development."

Again we quote from the Business journal: "Probably no other one thing is a better index to a town than its daily or weekly publication. Very often that is about all the stranger has to go by in making up his mind about a community. If the newspaper that falls into his hands is a bright-looking sheet, full of news and has a prosperous air, the stranger is certain to judge that it was published in a live, progressive town."

Believing firmly in the truth of the above quotation, we have always tried to make The Glendale Evening News truly representative of Glendale.

SUNDAY SCHOOL AND CRIME

A Brooklyn judge has suggested an antidote for the great wave of crime that is sweeping the country and engulfing the young. In the eighteen years that this judge has been on the bench more than 4000 boys less than 21 years of age have been arraigned before him, charged with various degrees of crime. But of this large number only three were members of Sunday schools at the time of the commission of their crimes, and these three cases were technical in character and devoid of heinousness. "Regular attendance at Sunday school during the period of character formation would cause the criminal courts and jails to close, for there would be no 'raw materials' to work on," says this judge. The Literary Digest quotes him as follows:

"In view of this significant showing, I do not hesitate to express the conviction that attendance by young men at Sunday school or other regular religious work, with its refining atmosphere, is signally preventive against crime and worthy of careful study by those who are dismayed by the increase of crime on the part of the young of America."

"In 1092 suspended criminal sentences, only sixty-two of the young men were brought back for violation of the condition of their paroles. In each suspended sentence case I insisted upon the return of the youth, if he was a Protestant, to a Sunday school; if a Roman Catholic, to attendance at mass, and if a Jew, to attendance at a synagogue or temple. In each instance I had the earnest co-operation of the minister, the priest or the rabbi, and in each case I saw to it that the young man had a job to go to as soon as he was freed on parole. In virtually all of the suspended sentence cases the reform was quick and, I believe, permanent."

"The sustained, wholesome, moral atmosphere imparted through habitual attendance upon Sunday school and church will expel criminal impulses."

Dorothy Ellingson, the little San Francisco girl who murdered her mother, is now advising the young to "make religion a part of your life." Religious services are taboo today in the home and the school and when children are not sent to Sunday school, both they and society are the losers.

COSTA RICA LEARNS LESSON

Costa Rica has withdrawn from the League of Nations, but before her resignation was accepted she had to come forward with $18,677 which she owed the league for back membership dues. "Here is the ending of a beautiful friendship," says the Kansas City Star. "Costa Rica had understood that the league offered all the advantages of a high-toned club where one could meet the best people, some of them real swells, in whose company one would be glad to be seen. There was an excellent clubhouse at Geneva with superior house service, where one could order anything one wanted by signing one's name to the check. But in cultivating the company of the swells, Costa Rica soon found she was getting writer's cramp signing checks. And she didn't quite see what she was getting in return, except, of course, the society of people who were constantly forgetting her name."

PATRIOTISM

Someone says that patriotism is our most commanding emotion, because it combines selfishness and unselfishness. To demand things for "our country" gives the heart a thrill, and when these things are exactly what we want ourselves, to benefit our business, to lower our taxes and to help us get the better of our neighbors, the altruistic urge is very strong in us. When the political crook tries to buy our vote with some political job or concession we are shamed, but when he offers the same thing to us collectively we respond with pride and the thrill of having done something for our country.

But the real test of patriotism is here: Do I, as Shakespeare said, "Love my country's good with a respect more tender, more holy, more profound than mine own life?" Someone has defined a politician as one who thinks of the next election and a patriot as one who thinks of the next generation.

She May Be Old, But She Certainly Has Young Ideas!

By Airship

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The flight of the huge gas bag from Germany to the United States recently was significant in the era of transportation.

Dr. Eckener, who piloted the dirigible, says that trans-oceanic travel from Europe to the United States by air is a thing of the near future. He says that this kind of travel at first will be commercial, devoted to transporting fast mail and freight, and later on, passengers.

Trans-oceanic travel will develop faster than trans-continental because of the superior speed of the dirigible as opposed to the railway transportation and the surface ships. Besides this, bumpy air, caused by heat rising from the earth, is not present over the water.

Non-explosive helium is better than explosive hydrogen, such as was used in the Zeppelin. The only trouble is that helium costs much more than hydrogen.

The airship will be more popular with passenger traffic because its gentle, rolling motion does not cause seasickness or airsickness.

It is always possible to avoid storm centers, according to Dr. Eckener. Crossing the Atlantic, the dirigible was confronted by two storm centers.

one off Cape Finisterre, in Spain and one in the Azores. The ship changed its course northward and went toward Newfoundland.

The greatest necessity is to replace hydrogen with helium, and gasoline with some other fuel which is not so dangerous.

The transfer of this dirigible from Germany to the United States ought to increase the good feeling toward Germany. It is not so easy to work up good feeling as it is to work up hate, but, in time, all hate must die and such exploits as communication between Germany and the United States by airship will be influential.

It is interesting to note in this connection that an aircraft corporation has been formed to use ships of the ZR-3 type for regular passenger service throughout the country, Europe and South America. This was indicated in a speech by Major C. R. Edwards, U. S. A., former commander of the American Legion of Massachusetts.

In this way the flight of the ZR-3 across the Atlantic was as significant as the passage of Columbus from Spain to this country, years ago.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED

With the recent dissolution of the British Labor government, Frank Hodges, civil lord of the admiralty during the labor regime found himself out of a job. So he promptly returned to his "trade," went down into a mine pit to swing a pick.

Hodges' contact with labor has been from a variety of angles. In January, 1924 when Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the Parliamentary Labor party of England became prime minister he offered Hodges, who was then president of the miners' union, one of the most important jobs in the British empire, that of director of the British navy.

During the British coal strike of 1921 Hodges was the acknowledged leader of the Labor war. At the November election, Hodges, who may have foreseen the breakdown of the Labor party, sought a seat in the House of Commons but was defeated.

British Labor will doubtless see to it that he does not long remain in the role of collier.

WEAR DOG COLLARS
In the fashion centers of Switzerland, Italy and France women wearing real dog collars may be seen this year. These collars are identical with those worn by dogs, usually being made of brightly colored leather, the only difference being that the more exclusive stud them with gems or with gold spikes. Madame Regnier introduced the idea.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

Have you ever noticed how many definitions of liberty there are abroad in the land? The only freedom which deserves the name is that of pursuing our own good in our own way, as long as we do not attempt to deprive others of theirs, or impede their efforts to obtain it. Each is the proper guardian of his own health, whether bodily, or mental or spiritual. Mankind are greater gainers by suffering each other to live as seems good to themselves, than by compelling each to live as seems good to the rest.

Though this doctrine is anything but new, there is no doctrine which stands more directly opposed to the general tendency of existing opinion and practice. Everywhere it is being observed that society has expanded fully as much in the attempt (according to its lights) to compel people to conform to its notions of personal as of social excellence.

John Stuart Mill observed that the disposition of mankind, whether as rulers or as fellow citizens, to impose their own opinions and inclinations as a rule of conduct on others, is energetically supported by some of the best and some of the worst feelings incident to human nature, that it is hardly ever kept under restraint by anything but want of power.

And as the power is not declining, but growing, unless a strong barrier of moral conviction can be raised against it, we must expect, in the present circumstances of the world, to see it increase.

There's a reverse side to all this.

"The cry for liberty never is an honest cry," declares an easterner (I regret I cannot give you his name).

"From the beginning of history men have struggled for liberty, and having achieved it have at once set about the business of enslaving other men."

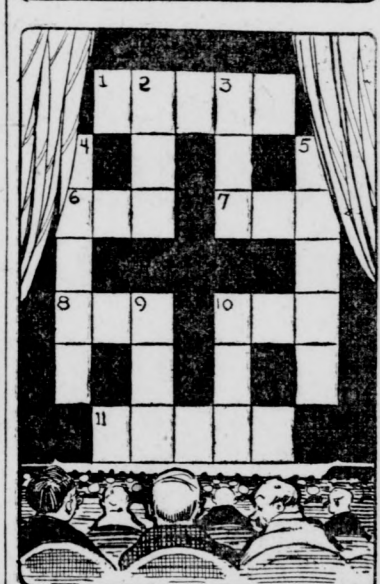

"Let a slave be made free and his first desire is for a man Friday to polish his boots."

"The cry for liberty is a cry for the right to snub those who snub us. The first business of a revolution is to overthrow those who now have authority; the second business is to affix chains to them."

"There have been many revolutions. The outstanding achievement of all has been the setting up of a new set of bosses."

Here's something worth thinking about.

MONTROSE, Feb. 6.—Montrose Chamber of Commerce heartily indorsed the welcome to be extended the moving picture company, which is looking for a suitable location here, at the regular monthly meeting held at the Montrose schoolhouse Wednesday night. The head of the concern, Charles Taylor, gave a most interesting talk on the aims of his company, the sort of pictures to be produced, the people to be employed and the amount of ground needed by him for his home, his business offices and his main studio. The following committee were appointed by President James Brown of the Chamber of Commerce to work in conjunction with Mr. Taylor: Theo. Belanger, C. L. Mead and Frank L. Turner.

Reports from the chairman of standing committees were heard. C. L. Mead reported twenty-five names had to be on a petition to form a new lighting district along Montrose avenue to Los Angeles avenue. This new district will embrace the territory north of Honolulu avenue west of Ocean View, up Briggs to Michigan avenue. As chairman of the fire committee Mr. Mead reported all fire hydrants received to date were installed in the places marked for them by county engineers.

F. C. O'Leary of La Crescenta was present with a delegation in the interests of the flood control district of the valley. Mr. O'Leary gave a lengthy talk on the subject which was followed by remarks by Mr. Hauber and O. Johnson of La Crescenta. Theo. Belanger moved the chamber endorse the movement and appoint a committee of three to work with committees from the La Crescenta Improvement association. H. Aldeh, C. W. Hickey and J. Chudley were appointed.

Mr. Belanger, chairman of the public safety committee, stated county surveyors will be in the valley shortly to place the flash signal at Montrose and Honolulu avenues. A suitable signal will cost $225.

G. Clark, speaking on the park committee work, reported only one tree had been lost since the planting by the county, that he had signed up for the taking over of the circle at the intersection of Orangedale and Del Mar avenues. The county will begin surveying for curbs and will furnish the trees, he said. Mr. Clark named Mrs. G. Fredericks, Mrs. B. Ackley and Charles Easton to work with him on the park matter.

Members of the special committee on an electric sign submitted a sample of the type of overhanging sign to be installed, and announced it will cost $125 to install poles.

A. F. Sullivan presented the matter of voting for the Glendale High school bonds on February 17, which were endorsed by the Montrose Chamber of Commerce. At the official board meeting of the Montrose Community church it was unanimously voted to co-operate with the John Brown Revival. During the revival the local church members will, instead of attending their Glendale Music club members, meeting Tuesday night at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse to celebrate the fourth birthday of the club, witnessed an impressive ceremonial, when Mrs. Mattison Boyd Jones, founder and club president, lighted four candles on a birthday cake in the form of a miniature temple, representing the music temple the club hopes to build in Glendale.

From the golden dome of the tiny temple waved a small American flag. As she lighted the cake candles Mrs. Jones said:

"May this be the lighting of a vision of a beautiful temple of music in Glendale, the finest and fastest growing city in the world. The golden dome represents the money we will need to erect the temple, and the American flag you see flying from the dome stands for American musicians and American music, accorded a place on every program of the Glendale Music club."

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

H. B. P. AND O. W.
"Dear Dr. Lulu:—You are a Godsend to a lot of people. Long may you live and may your shadow never grow less!"
"I have one friend who is too thin, and another who is too stout and has high blood pressure. Will you please send me your articles for each of them? I am enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 10 cents in stamps.—Mrs. M."

My dear, you have wished me a bad wish about that shadow. I am having to lessen it now from the effects of holiday boxes. For your friend who has high blood pressure, the reducing instructions will fix her up, no doubt. High blood pressure and overweight are boon companions. One big insurance company states that of all the causes of high blood pressure, overweight is the most consistent. From the reports I get from my overweight followers, I can very well believe this. The article of high blood pressure was also sent, along with the reducing instructions.

"Dear Dr. Peters:—You are wrong as to birthmarks. Before I was born, my father brought home a turtle and put it on the floor before my mother, and she screamed and put her left hand on her right forearm. At that point on my right forearm I have carried for sixty-four years a fair representation of a turtle, nearly an inch across."

Reader Friends have asked me for the following recipes:
(For "Mrs. S.") Glazed Sweet Potatoes: Boil or steam sweet potatoes till they are tender, then peel and cut them lengthwise in thick slices. Place these slices in a buttered pan, cover with bits of butter, sprinkle generously with brown sugar and a little cinnamon ground, and bake till a rich brown in a good oven.

(For "Mrs. T.") Coconut Pie Filling: Separate the whites from the yolks of three eggs. Beat the yolks with one-half cup of white sugar; add one heaping teaspoon of butter melted, one-half teaspoon of vanilla, two cups of sweet milk and four teaspoons of shredded coconut. Line a deep pie pan with ordinary pie crust and turn this filling into it. Bake like any egg-filling pie (that is, slipping the pie into a hot oven at first, to set the crust, but after a few minutes reducing the oven heat to "medium," and continuing baking at this moderate temperature during the entire forty minutes which are required for the baking. If a pie with egg in it is allowed to boil up while baking it will be sure to "whey"). When almost done, remove it from the oven, spread over the top a meringue made by beating the three egg-whites stiff with three tablespoons of powdered sugar; let continue to cook till this meringue is brown. Here is the other recipe you requested:

Coconut Filling for Layer Cake: Heat three-fourths of a cup of sweet milk in a saucepan. Take one-fourth cup of extra sweet milk and mix into it four tablespoons of flour; stir till smooth, then add this thickening to the hot milk in the saucepan. Again mix till smooth. Then add one well-beaten egg previously mixed with six tablespoons of granulated sugar. When this is done, add also one cup of shredded coconut and let cook a few minutes longer before removing from range and flavoring with one tablespoon of vanilla. This amount of filling will be adequate to go between two layers. If you also wish coconut on top of the cake, merely add one-half cup of shredded coconut to enough ordinary boiled icing to frost one cake.

(For "Mrs. S.") Prune Cake: Cream together one-half cup of butter and three-quarters of a cup of granulated sugar; add the beaten yolks of two eggs and one-fourth teaspoon of orange extract. Mix together one-half cup of chopped English walnuts, one cup of drained, stewed and chopped prunes, and one cup of pastry flour and a very little over three-fourths extra cupful of the same flour, sifted with three teaspoons of baking powder. Dissolve one-half cup of soda in one-half cup of water, and mix all these ingredients together into a batter, folding in two stiffly whipped egg whites last. Bake forty minutes in a moderate oven.
Tomorrow—New Fancywork Ideas.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, "Chats On Beauty" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. WORLD'S DOOM OR WASH MACHINE(?)

Maytag Product Is Staked Against Gabriel's Horn Sounding

Maytag washing machines are being given away, free, all day today and up until midnight, by Washer Cox of the Glendale Hardware Co., 601 East Broadway.

"You have only to leave your name and address," he says, "and a Maytag will be delivered to any home in Glendale, without cost. In the event the world comes to an end, it is yours without cost. If the old world continues to wag away and dawn comes up tomorrow the way it has had a habit of doing for several years, you will have the privilege of paying for the machine on the Maytag easy payment plan. "In short, I am betting Maytag washing machines against the prediction of Mrs. Margaret Rowen that Friday, February 6, 1925, at midnight, doom will come. It is a sporting proposition, washing machines against the end of the world, at even odds."

PLEASANT REDUCTION

In the last few years reduction of superfluous fat has become so much of a science, and so increasingly a part of a doctor's work, that I have not said much about it. The methods I used to describe, of finding out the exact value of the food you were eating, and then eating less of the fattening things, or eliminating them and favoring the less fattening foods, has been tried so successfully by so many women, that these days a really fat person is the exception.

So I do not intend to go into great detail here about reduction. I want only to make a suggestion, and particularly to answer three letters from Mrs. K. "Reader for Five Years" and "Patience." All these women have a tendency toward fat, two of them have gone on a strict diet, and all are now about what they should weigh, or only a few pounds too much. But none wants to gain, and gain she will unless she is very careful.

Let me advocate a little pleasant form of reduction for these people. Instead of eating breakfast, which normally would consist of fruit or cereal or perhaps both, eggs, possibly bacon, and coffee with cream, let them take a small glass of orange juice. The juice from one good sized, thin skinned, juicy orange will almost fill a small glass, it will help keep the system regulated, which will keep the skin clear, and the caloric value of the whole thing is about 100. If you happen to be the sort of person I am, so that no day seems quite right if it doesn't start off with a cup of hot coffee, take that a little time after the orange juice, black if you can make yourself like it that way, if not, with a little skim or whole milk (but no sugar or cream) poured boiling hot into the cup before the coffee is added. For some reason which I leave others to explain, coffee with boiling milk is almost as good as coffee with cream, but coffee with cold thin milk added later is quite impossible. Try this to keep down your weight.

R. R. R.: Soak the hair in kerosene and tie the head up in an old towel overnight. This treatment should kill the active tion so there will be no trace of the kerosene odor left. To dislodge the eggs from the hair shafts use fine toothed comb kept soaking wet with vinegar during all the time of combing the hair. Oil of sassafras rubbed into scalp and through the hair will sometimes be all that is necessary when there is not a very bad case of this kind.

Tomorrow: Enter Iodine—For Beauty

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Cave Prisoner Remains Alive, Radio Indicates

guard rail of a shaft being drilled into her native Kentucky hills to-day—looked at the yawning pit which busy workmen and modern tools are digging ever deeper and deeper—swayed as tears dimmed her eyes and collapsed above the spot where Floyd Collins lies in a living tomb.

She was Mrs. Jennie Collins, stepmother of Floyd. It was her first visit to the cave where Floyd had been imprisoned seven days.

Mrs. Collins was carried from the cave by a physician and soldiers and revived in a Red Cross tent erected near the scene.

She had completely recovered within two hours and, standing on the hillside overlooking the pit, the soft Kentucky breeze warmed by a summer-like sun fanning wisps of faded, graying hair about a furrowed, care-worn face, she told the story of Floyd Collins, of his life, of his work and of her own hopes and her fears.

Believes Son Dead
She believes Floyd is dead. She has no faith in these modern "doodads" which strange men are bringing into her country to try to rescue her boy. These things are new to her and people of these parts take unkindly to strangers and new ways.

Her interest now lies in bringing out Floyd's body so "we can put him away right." It seems to take precedence over the question of life and death and for some reason as she talks one gathers that this is one of life's most important things—to "put away right."

"We'd all feel so much better," she said, "if we could just know that Floyd has been put away with a preacher talkin'—just to think of him lyin' down there for ages and ages—don't you think that would be lovely if we could only do that?"

Mrs. Collins has had no hope that Floyd would be rescued since the first day she knew he had been trapped.

"The man walked up to our door and told me Floyd was a-captured," she tells questioners.

"Yes, and I says," she goes on, "they'll never get him out."

Dreams of Accident
Floyd had a premonition of the accident, she said—had dreamed of being caught in a cave with people "a-clawing" at him.

This was just the day before he set out from home to go into the cave which may become his tomb.

"He came down in the mornin'," Mrs. Collins said, "and said to me 'Lor' Ma, I got three days more work in that cave, and 'Lor' how I wish it was over. I been a-dreamin' of bein' caught in some rocks and some men a-clawing at me.'"

"And I says to him: 'You stay home here today. We ain't got no wood chopped, and we need you here.'"

"Well, suh, that boy he went down behind the house and chopped up a whole pile of wood—why we just used the last of it today."

"But he was set on a-goin' and along about 10 o'clock he went away."

Fails to Return

"That night he didn't come back, but we didn't think nothin' of that. He'd been away that long loads of times, but the next day we began to get worried and his brother set out to look for him."

"I was at the door when Floyd's brother came back 'long about dusk. He says: 'Well, Ma, Floyd's got a-cought.'"

"Yes, I says. And they'll never get him out."

Mrs. Collins planned to remain at the cave until nightfall and she "aims" to be there when they reach Floyd, "if I can find any way to work it."

If Floyd is dead, Mrs. Collins said, the coveted funeral will be held at Mammoth Cave church and burial will be in Mammoth Cave cemetery, where his brother Jim is buried.

"That's what Floyd would have liked," she exclaimed. "He loved the caves and he'd like best to be put away among them."

Pacific

Declaring that one of the greatest patriotic organizations of modern times is the Parent-Teacher association, Rev. Charles M. Calderwood, pastor of First Congregational church, gave an inspiring talk on patriotism yesterday afternoon before the Pacific P.T.A., meeting at the school. O. E. McDowell of the high school faculty, also spoke. His subject was the coming bond election. He gave a statement of the high school needs. Mrs. W. G. Lauderdale, association president, was in charge of the meeting. In the absence of the patriotic chairman, Mrs. Harry A. McMullin, formerly a member of the association, before moving to Rossmore, led the flag salute. Patriotic songs were sung by a quartet of high school boys. Because of moving to Los Angeles, Mrs. Arthur Paul resigned as treasurer, and Mrs. Leslie Tronsier was named her successor. A treat was given the rooms that brought in 75 percent P.T.A. membership. In recognition of the national celebration of P.T.A. founders' day, Mrs. E. B. Moore spoke on the history of P.T.A., and during the social hour late in the afternoon a birthday cake bearing twenty-eight red, white and blue candles was cut.

Colorado

Details of reading circle work were given yesterday at the meeting of Colorado P.T.A. by Mrs. Mae Rosenberg. Mrs. E. S. McKee, chairman of better films for the Tuesday Afternoon club, told of work among P.T.A. and club women in securing better films. Vocal numbers were given by Dorothy Schenck and piano selections by Rhodora McKee. Mrs. F. W. Parr, president, announced that $9 was realized on the food sale Wednesday. Eugene J. Wix is to speak at the next meeting.

Terris and Mandell Will Battle Tonight

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Early prospects were that Madison Square Garden would bulge to the exits tonight for the twelve-round meeting between Sid Terris, New York's "dancin' fool," and Sammy Mandell, so-called sheik of Rockford, Ill., leading contenders for the vacant lightweight title. The boys are the headliners of the state athletic commission's lightweight elimination tourney, to begin later this month, and their bout tonight will serve as an unofficial eye-opener for the action to come. Local sports have installed Terris a slight favorite.

HOLLYWOOD IS NOT HEEDFUL OF 'FINALE'

Picture Plants Disregarding
Rumors; Carmel Myers
Returning Home

By MARIAN MARSHALL
For Southland News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6.—There is no reason to believe the world is coming to an end, despite the prophecies from Hollywood to the contrary. None of the film studios are taking a day's vacation in anticipation of "the general disintegration" to follow this evening's expected advent.

The only arrival of importance this week is that of Carmel Myers, according to Pete Smith, her publicity representative. Therefore, do not expect any more Roman or German or Parisian fashion hints from the petite Carmel. She was a member of the "Ben Hur" troupe, whose little chariot, it is said, was upset by the Mussolini crisis, whatever kind of spaghetti that is.

Moreno in Spain
So it is that Antonio Moreno will have to serve as "foreign correspondent" for Hollywood on the Spanish front.

Word received from Moreno contains the flattering information that the star has been approached by several Spanish plenipotentiaries, who informed him that Spain hoped to attract world-wide attention to itself by the establishment of a vast motion-picture industry.

To this end the noblemen, who practically own the town of Gerona, have offered to give up this beautiful spot if Moreno can induce a number of American film producers to colonize there immediately.

"The location is perfect, and the climate ideal," states Moreno, but the territory is too primitive to be converted into a permanent film colony. There is no place like Hollywood."

More Studio Gossip
Tom Little and $45,000 left for New York City yesterday to bring back bric-a-brac of the Colonial period to the United Studios. They are exceedingly rare around Los Angeles, although there are thousands of authentic pieces of European period furniture.

Italy has no real coal mines, so is making its mountain streams produce electric power.

Rainfall In North Sets Mark Over Last Year

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 6.—Swollen by the storm of the past few days, the Sacramento river rose to the twenty-six-foot mark here today, according to N. R. Taylor, chief of the United States weather bureau, reaching its greatest height in four years. The total rainfall for the storm was fixed at 1.96 inches, bringing the total for the season to 10.27 inches. This is almost seven inches in excess of last year's total.

Heavy Rain Promised Continuation In Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Heavy rains here the past few days will continue tonight and possibly tomorrow, weather bureau officials said today. The total rainfall for the season here is 16.05 inches, compared to 6.27 for this time last year. The normal fall is 13.26.

MEMBERS OF CLUB FOR SCHOOL BONDS

Kiwanians Take Ballot at Meeting and Issue Is Given Endorsement

Members of the Glendale Kiwanis club endorsed the proposed $2,400,000 school bond issue today when a secret ballot was taken at the meeting held at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, by a vote of sixty-four to fourteen. The expression of the club members on the proposed issue came as a result of an address delivered last Friday before the club by Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, in which he quoted facts and figures to show the need of additional school facilities for Glendale.

An amendment to the by-laws raising the annual dues from $15 to $25. The meeting was the regular monthly business meeting. President Frank Fox presided.

P. J. Hayselden offered a motion that all balloting on all civic and financial matters in the club hereafter be taken only by written ballots. The matter was referred to the board of directors and will be voted upon next week.

Attendance Contest
Herbert Packer, chairman of the attendance committee, announced plans for an attendance contest to be started in the near future. D. H. Smith offered a resolution asking that the present traffic law be changed, giving a motorist approaching an intersection from the right the right-of-way. The resolution was adopted.

Committee reports were given by the following chairmen: D. H. Smith, public affairs; Park Arnold, program; C. D. Thom, reception; Howard I. Wood, educational; Jesse Smith, business methods; Herbert Packer, attendance; Herman Nelson, finances; Emil Kiefer, house; A. L. Baird, interclub relations; Ed Radke, underprivileged children; R. M. Brown, classification; Max Green, auditing; Rex Kelley, vocational guidance; Dr. Ray Gartley, Boy Scout; A. L. Ferguson, laws and regulations; Ole Andresen, music; M. D. Davis, entertainment.

The attendance prize, donated by Secretary Burton McGinnis, was won by Rev. C. M. Calderwood. Ole Andresen led the community singing with Mrs. George Lyons at the piano.

A. L. Baird reported the profit from the concert given by the Rhonda Welsh Male chorus, under the auspices of the Kiwanis club, amounted to $296. Secretary McGinnis read a letter from the Knights of Columbus inviting the club members to attend the state championship game in San Francisco on February 15.

CHICAGO WHEAT

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Prices broke sharply in the grain market today, the May wheat leading the decline in a frantic effort of the public to unload. May wheat closed 6 cents lower. Wheat was from 3 to 6 cents lower at the close. Corn finished 3/4 to 1 1/2 cents lower. Oats was down from 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents at the close. Provisions were slightly lower at the close.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—After bidding the oil, railroad and industrial stocks up to higher price levels today, Wall Street traders sold the whole list in another week-end, profit-taking this morning which wiped out a good part of the gains made in the previous sessions.

Liquidation in the stock market followed soon after the break of about 6 cents a bushel in wheat at Chicago and Winnipeg, which strongly suggested the wisdom of taking profits before they became wiped out by reactionary price movements. The oil stocks were the first to slump back to lower price level as offerings of independent and standard oil shares were supplied to the market, more freely than at any other time this week. In few cases did losses from the high of the week exceed two points while stocks yielded less than a point.

Another brisk forward movement of the railroad, oil, motor and equipment stocks was in progress immediately after the opening of the market, largely as the result of an influx of buying orders from outside points. The pools took occasion to mark up the prices of their favorites and gains of from 2 to 10 points were made by some of the industrial leaders in this period. Cast Iron Pipe jumped ten points to 189, a new, high record for the year. The railroad stocks, into which new life was infused by strong outside buying this week continued to move forward with low-priced shares like Chicago Great Western, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Western Maryland, etc., in the lead. New York Central and Southern Pacific responded to favorable traffic reports and the southwestern merger stocks topped some of their past records.

Rumors that Universal Pipe & Radio 7 per cent preferred would be retired at par led to heavy demand for that stock, which sold at $7 1/2, a new point, and nine points above yesterday's low. Equipment stocks, tire and rubber, and some of the copper stocks, were unaffected by the selling wave which passed over the market in the third and fourth hours, and the same was true of the local traction stocks and public utilities, which have not enjoyed much of a rise in the last ten days. Copper stocks sold higher in sympathy with the stiffening of the copper market and the wide prediction of 16-cent copper within a few weeks.

The tobacco stocks came in for considerable attention in the fourth hour, with tobacco products leading this group. When call money was marked up to 3 1/2 per cent, selling was renewed in some of the high-priced stocks, but liquidation was orderly, and prices declined moderately and without confusion.

Sales today totalled $1,888,400 shares; bonds $17,875,000.

View of Hotel Maryland

Marking an important step in the growth of Glendale, the Hotel Maryland, this city's first large hostelry, recently completed at a large expenditure, will observe its formal opening tomorrow. Furnishing of the new hotel was completed the early part of the week and already virtually every room is occupied or engaged for occupancy. Visitors will be received all during tomorrow by P. S. Whitney, lessee and manager, and will be given an opportunity to inspect the handsome new structure.

The Maryland, situated at the southeast corner of Wilson and Maryland avenues, was built by the Glendale Construction Co., operated by Messrs.

J. W. Usilton and Albert Hadley. It is a strictly modern four-story, fireproof structure, with shop rooms on the street floor. Contained on the other three floors of the building are 40 up-to-date hotel rooms with private baths, and every convenience. A limited number of these are also equipped with kitchenette and one-room apartment facilities, an innovation in hotel accommodation in this section.

The hostelry, to be operated on the European plan, will offer complete hotel service in every detail. Mail service will be efficient, telephones are provided in every room, furnishing has been worked out in full prior to the opening.

Mr. Whitney, lessee and manager, is a hotel man of long and varied experience. He comes to Glendale after spending a number of years in business in Hollywood. He will be assisted in the management of the new concern by T. J. Edwards, formerly connected with one of the leading Hollywood hotels. Messrs. Whitney and Edwards have announced their intention to give Glendale a strictly modern, high-class hotel, worthy of a city the size of this, and on a par with any of the large institutions of the kind in Los Angeles. Much care and trouble have been taken by the management in the furnishing of the hotel. Only the best has been installed in every instance, and it is

The general contractor of the Hotel
Maryland was Malcolm Smith of Holwood, who has erected many of the leading business buildings of Glendale.

The Verdugo Electric Company handled the electrical wiring and most of the fixtures in this modern hotel.
This electrical concern, under the able management of Mr. Walton, has made a phenomenal growth the past year, and has put in the electric wiring and fixtures in many of Glendale's new buildings.

The many yards of linoleum used in furnishing the Hotel Maryland were laid by the C. F. Graas Co., 212 W.
Broadway. This firm is well established in Glendale and vicinity, and, in conjunction with their large Los Angeles store, handle a large volume of linoleum business in Los Angeles County.

The Custer-Pesch Roofing Co. of 1227 E. Colorado Blvd. had the contract of furnishing the roofing for this modern structure.

The corner storeroom in Hotel
Maryland will be occupied by the Maryland Pharmacy, to be operated by Chas. F. Stuart—also owner of the Glendale Pharmacy. As the fixtures have not been completely installed,
Mr. Stuart will be unable to open the drug store Saturday—but intends to have the store open to the public inside of a week.

The Wrath To Come

CHAPTER XI

"You're staying here, Grant?" Lord Yeovil enquired.

Grant shook his head.

"I will come and dine, if I may, sir," he replied. "I haven't got a scrap of writing now of any sort, but I'm a marked man. I'm best away from your hotel."

"How absurd!" Susan exclaimed. "Why, we're in this as much as you are. We brought the box away."

"To tell you the truth," Grant confided, "I think we are all quite safe for the moment. They must know that our object in going to Police Headquarters was to leave the documents there."

The car drew up at the hotel in Park Avenue. Grant walked across the pavement first and back again.

"All clear," he announced. "No one's bothered even to follow us. Listen."

They stood at the entrance to the hotel, listening. Away down towards the city, they heard the sound of four dull explosions, following one another quickly.

"That is the end of the civil war," Grant said grimly. "Or the beginning of it."

The opening session of the Limitation of Armaments Conference was held in an environment outwardly calm, but with mutterings of the storm very clearly audible to those who knew something of the real position. The actual surroundings all made for peace—a stately and dignified chamber, with carefully shaded windows, cool white walls, and oaken furniture, massive, and beautiful with age. There were twenty-six representatives present and six

THE GATEWAY

Other Hollywood studios were threatened with having to close down while Colleen Moore was filming her latest First National picture, "So Big."

The reason was that Colleen had corralled all of the available screen stars into her supporting cast. Her action left a decided dearth of stellar material for other productions.

Rarely has such a cast of notables been recruited for one picture. Included were Wallace Beery, Ben Lyons, Phyllis Haver, John Bowers, Ford Sterling, Rosemary Theby, Jean Hersholt, Dot Farley and Sam De Grasse. Practically all of these have either been starred or featured in pictures of their own, at one time or another, and each is in constant demand for screen plays.

Colleen has the role of a Dutch farmer's wife, fighting to realize her "So Big" ambitions for her baby. The story was written in novel form by Edna Ferber, and was widely read and is showing today and tomorrow at the Gateway theatre.

secretaries at the side table, amongst whom Slattery, by special appointment, found a place. He was next to Itash, but the two men exchanged no greetings. At the appointed hour the President entered the room and spoke a few words of welcome. His allusions to the world's desire for peace seemed to contain, perhaps, a faint note of irony; otherwise there was nothing to indicate any foreknowledge of untoward events. After he had extended his usual formal invitation to luncheon he left the room, and his place was taken by the Secre-

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Wedding Bells," being staged at the Playhouse theatre, Central avenue at Lexington drive, was originally produced at the Harris theatre in New York, with Wallace Eddinger and Margaret Lawrence in the leading roles. Mary Worth has the stellar part in the present production, which is put on by the Dobinson Players, now offering a season of high-class stock in Glendale. The curtain rises at 8:15 o'clock.

A good laugh is worth more than medicine, some doctors say, and "Wedding Bells" assures that. It offers intelligent advice to the average person without resorting to sugar-coated pill procedure. The trials and tribulations of the lovelorn Reggie; the ludicrous entanglements into which he and a well-meaning friend are tumbled, and the insistence of an ex-wife that there shall be no second Mrs. Reggie, provide entertainment that is different.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S OLD CLOTHES

Aunt Lettie, the goat lady, was calling on Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. Aunt Lettie happened to look out of the window toward the back yard, where the bunny gentleman had his automobile coop, or garage, as they are called, and she saw a ragged animal walking along.

"Oh, dear, oh, my goodness!" bleated Aunt Lettie.

"What is it?" cried Nurse Jane. "Are you getting nervous again? Do you want me to give you a cup of tea?"

"Oh, I don't know what is going to happen!" bleated the goat lady. "See that terrible looking tramp coming out of Uncle Wiggily's garage! I believe the tramp went in to set it on fire, or take the car!"

Nurse Jane looked and laughed. "Why, that's Uncle Wiggily himself," said the muskrat lady.

"Uncle Wiggily? Never!" said Aunt Lettie.

"Yes, he has his old, ragged clothes on," said Nurse Jane. "He always puts his old clothes on when he works around the car, and he must have been doing that now."

"Hum! Yes," spoke Aunt Lettie. "Now that I look a second time, I see it is Uncle Wiggily. I surely thought he was a tramp."

"He does look like one," admitted Nurse Jane. "I must speak to him about going around looking so ragged like and uninviting."

So when Uncle Wiggily entered the bungalow a little later Nurse Jane said:

"Wiggily, it's a disgrace the way you go about looking like a tramp! Your clothes are so ragged they frightened Aunt Lettie! She hardly knew who you were."

"These are my old clothes," chuckled the rabbit. "You wouldn't want me to put on my Sunday suit to oil and grease the auto. And one who knows me can tell I have better clothes than these. But they're all right for the garage."

"You're a disgrace to the neighbors," sighed Nurse Jane, but nothing she could say would make Uncle Wiggily take off his old clothes until he had finished working under the car.

He got through in the garage, and was coming in to change his ragged clothes, when, all of a sudden, looking out of the door, he saw the Bob Cat tiptoeing up the path. And before the bunny could dodge back in the garage, the Bob Cat saw him.

"Now he'll say he is going to nibble my ears!" thought the rabbit. "And he'll make a jump at me! Oh, how can I get away from the bad chap?"

But instead of saying anything about ears, or leaping at the bunny, the Bob Cat looked at the ragged rabbit and very respectfully said:

"Hello, Ash Man! You have been attending to Uncle Wiggily's furnace, I suppose. Tell me, have you seen that rabbit this morning? I want to catch him. Tell me where he is and I'll pay you thirteen cents!"

For a moment Uncle Wiggily didn't know what to say. Then he saw that the Bob Cat didn't know him.

"He doesn't know me because I have on my old clothes," thought the bunny. "He thinks I'm the ash man! Hurray! I've fooled him. Then making his voice low and deep as if his throat was filled with coal dust and ashes, the bunny said:

"I haven't seen Uncle Wiggily today," which was true enough for the rabbit hadn't looked in the glass, and without doing that he could not see himself.

"Oh, ho!" sighed the Bob Cat. "I guess he's gone adventuring. Well, I'm much obliged to you, Ash Man. I'll go to the woods and see if I can find that rabbit," and away he ran, taking his little tail with him.

"Oh, dear!" laughed Uncle Wiggily as the Bob Cat left. "It's a good thing I had on my old clothes!" And Nurse Jane said the same thing.

But if the egg beater doesn't try to play croquet with the codfish ball before breakfast, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily winding the clock.

Prophecy

THERE were few who shared the faith of the pioneers who undertook the development of the telephone.

With an infant art to nourish constantly by new discovery and invention, and handicapped by scanty capital and public apathy, they held to their vision of a nation-wide service.

Nearly two score years ago, when the telephones of the United States were fewer than those of a single New York borough today, the business was organized essentially like the Bell System of the present. That is: a central advisory staff, a central scientific organization devoted to development and research, a central department to promote progress in operating technique, a central source of supply of standardized material, local operating companies familiar with local needs, and a national net-work of lines interconnecting these companies.

Telephone pioneers planned this organization structure, believing it necessary for efficient and economical national service. The nation's experience has proved the clearness of their vision.

DRIVE LAUNCHED FOR BOND ISSUES

Parent-Teacher Bodies to Hold Series of Meetings To Insure Votes

A series of neighborhood meetings, under the auspices of the various P-T. A. bodies, are planned by the School Bond Campaign committee as one of the leading steps in the campaign of education for the $2,400,000 bond issue for elementary and high school expansion, to be voted on at the special election of February 17.

The first two of this series of sectional meetings will be held tomorrow night at the Glendale Intermediate school and at the Grand View school. Dates for other similar meetings will be announced within the next few days. This action was announced at a meeting of the School Bond Campaign committee, held yesterday afternoon in the Glendale city Board of Education offices, 107 1-2 South Brand boulevard, V. M. Hollister, chairman, presiding.

Pupils to Help
It was also announced that a special bond campaign program will be put on at the father's night meeting at the Broadway High school, February 12. George U. Moyle, principal of the Glendale Union High school system, said that 2300 boys and girls at the Broadway and Harvard High schools stood ready to campaign for the bonds on his suggestion. The committee authorized the printing of pledge cards for the use of the pupils in soliciting votes. These are to be of two colors, one for the boys and one for the girls, and a contest will be waged between them to see which can bring in the greatest number of pledges.

W. E. Hewitt, chairman of the publicity sub-committee, announced that the Chamber of Commerce directors, Rotary club, Real Estate and Merchants' association have already endorsed the bonds. J. M. Boland, chairman of the civic sub-committee, promised thirty cars on the day of the election, to take voters to and from the polls. Automobile stickers bearing the words "Vote Yes February 17, Glendale School Bonds" were passed around. The committee voted to print and distribute dodgers carrying campaign data.

Community Sing Hears Talk on School Bonds

Glendale's $2,400,000 school bond issue, which will be submitted to the voters of the city on February 17, was discussed during the Community Sing in the Harvard High school auditorium last night, when A. L. Ferguson, vice-principal of the Glendale Union High school, talked. Special musical numbers included vocal selections by Miss Marie Oliver, one of the soloists of the Glendale Choral club, and a whistling solo by Mrs. Eva Jenkins. Mrs. Gertrude Champlain Erb accompanying. H. S. Robinson's singing charts were used. J. Arthur Myers directed.

Next Thursday night the Community Sing will be held in the Glendale Avenue schoolhouse, with Community Service and the southside Parent-Teachers' associations co-operating.

Letter Received Here Predicts Wheat at $3

R. L. Foster of 620 East Orange Grove avenue reports today he has received a letter from his son, Fred L. Foster of Wichita, Kan., saying that predictions are being made that wheat will reach $3. He says farmers now are contracting for their growing wheat at from $1.40 to $1.50 a bushel.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Fifty-year-old sheiks and flappers from 40 to 45 came in for criticism at the Rotary luncheon yesterday afternoon when Harold J. Stonier, executive secretary of the University of Southern California, spoke his mind on several subjects.

While he was not explicit, the speaker, no doubt, was directing attention to those people of more or less wealth who dawdle along in life without doing anything useful other than to ename the youth of today.

It does seem a shame that the Merry Widowers from Milwaukee, Wisconsin and other places east of the Rocky mountains come hither to disturb our queenly maidens, if the professor is right in his premise.

And yet one cannot feel the least sympathy toward the college girl or boy who plays the role of "young fool" when the "old fool" takes the stage. In other words, birds of a feather will flap together.

The speaker also criticized the parents who provide their children with motorcars, but he failed to note that most of the schools are NOT adequately served, by street cars, and it is no after-breakfast jaunt from Glendale to U. S. C., for instance.

Beyond doubt the automobile and jazz music have done much to relegate our strait-laced moral codes to the four winds, yet evolution will slowly steer the generations straight again despite vain human endeavors to keep everyone on the narrow path.

With all the reforming there is no more and likely no less viciousness. All of which doesn't worry us very much, however.

Professor Stonier did speak on a subject dear to the heart of the writer. It is the small matter of reapportioning the various legislative districts of the state of California. He told how the solons in Sacramento are not obeying the mandate of the constitution, how the north and south are working toward total disagreement and division. All too true, but this writer has his own mind made up that the blame is not so much with the solons as it is with those interests in Los Angeles which are seeking something other than mere reapportionment.

And while reapportionment may be considered a "bleeding issue" at Sacramento, it might be well to point out some of the faults to be found here in Southern California.

First of all, the representatives elected to represent the southland may be classed as those who are approved by the powers that be, and those not so approved. They fail to work together, but the organized San Francisco delegation does.

Second, these representatives must be acceptable to so many different organizations in Los Angeles that they cannot have a mind of their own, or if they express themselves, they are political suicides.

Third, the controlling factors of Los Angeles politics find it impossible to get 100 per cent solid candidates elected, who can be depended upon, with some most ingenious results shown on roll calls.

San Francisco and the country districts, which stand to lose by reapportionment, take advantage of this lack of cohesion.

Not until strong and able hands take charge of the southern political situation, will reapportionment in California be realized, the writer personally believes.

Ghosts of by-gone days need be forgotten.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Feb. 6.—A yellow car line running out from North Broadway, Los Angeles, and following Riverside drive and Victory boulevard through Burbank to Roscoe, is the proposal of the West Burbank Improvement association, according to its president, J. P. Crockett.

Such an advance in transportation facilities for Burbank, from Los Angeles, with 10-cent fare of the mountains to the north and not more than 20-minute service, operating cars as some of the shuttle trains in the eastern centers of population do, would be of a value to Burbank impossible to estimate, Mr. Crockett said. The new Women's clubhouse on Olive avenue at Seventh street was formally opened last night, when a special entertainment was staged and refreshments served to hundreds of visitors.

Burbank is larger by 2200 acres as the result of an annexation election held Monday. The newly acquired territory takes in Stough park, reaching to the top of the mountains to the north and from the Glendale city limits to the east and the Burbank city limits to the west, with the exception of a small, bottle-shaped area lying in the city of Los Angeles.

Miss Hester Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Holland, has arrived here from Denver where she has been teaching school. She will be here for several months.

Joe Arnold of Canton, Ohio, arrived here recently to spend the remainder of the winter at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Price, of 606 Magnolia avenue.

New Theatre Planned By Dobinson Players

company of professionals has produced some of the best comedy-dramas that ever showed on New York's "Great White Way." The latest, "Wedding Bells," by Salisbury Field, has met with greater appreciation from theatre lovers of Glendale and vicinity than any that have gone before. It is playing this week after which it will be succeeded by "The Night Call."

With the handicap of locality and the tremendous popularity of the strategically placed movie houses to compete with, Florence Dobinson's efforts to revive interest in the spoken drama and an appreciation of the cultural position of the stage in public life, has not been an easy task. Revivals of the ideals which governed the legitimate stage a generation ago, however, have met with instant approval over the country, particularly in the great centers of population and wealth. Its effect is being felt here increasingly, to such an extent that Glendale will very probably have the pleasure of seeing a quarter-million dollar theatre, devoted exclusively to the spoken drama, erected here during the coming summer.

It has been known for some time that this has been the intention of Florence Dobinson, Mary Isabelle Alpaugh and others financially interested in the Dobinson Players. For some time after the Dobinson Players opened the Playhouse there was a doubt as to whether such a great money outlay would be warranted on a house of this kind, but that doubt is rapidly ceasing to exist.

New Theatre Planned
The quality of the offerings at the Playhouse has been such that the support of the Chamber of Commerce and the leading business men of the city has been solidly behind the company. It is also recognized that no agency is so well calculated to advertise the enterprise of a flourishing city as a high class theatre, drawing its patronage from all the communities around.

A tentative site for the new theatre has been chosen and an announcement concerning its location may be expected at an early date. Wherever the site is chosen the value of property in that vicinity is bound to rise. Present plans contemplate commencement of work in May, in order that the theatre shall be in operation by October.

As far as productions are concerned the present policy of the Dobinson Players will be followed, that is, there will be no attempt to emulate the community or little theatre movement in any way. Neither will there be any rabid attempt to make it a great commercial success. The ideals which have always actuated Florence Dobinson and those associated with her are the perpetuation of the best traditions of the stage and the offering of clean and brilliant plays, irrespective of the question of profit.

ADD THREE TEACHERS TO ATWATER SCHOOL

Hold Farewell Reception Today For Miss Loie Hunt; Masons to Elect
Officers for New Lodge

Three new teachers have been added to the staff at the Atwater grammar school on Atwater avenue. Miss Lillian Simpson is now in charge of the A-1 grade. Mrs. Vanna Osgood, also a newcomer at the school, has been assigned to the A-2 grade.

The retirement of Miss Loie Hunt, director of the kindergarten, today, has necessitated the appointment of still a third new teacher for the new term. Mrs. Lillian Morris will direct the kindergarten work in the future. It was announced today by Miss Lillian Gates, principal.

A farewell reception and entertainment was given by the teachers in honor of Miss Hunt, who is leaving to take up special work at the University of California, southern branch. The affair took place today at noon at the grammar school. Twenty-five teachers of the school were present.

An executive meeting of the Atwater Parent-Teachers' association was held this afternoon at the time arrangements for the general meeting of the association next Tuesday were made.

Masons Will Elect

Officers of the Masonic club now being organized in the Atwater district as the nucleus of a Masonic lodge in that locality, will be elected at a meeting tonight at 3218 Glendale boulevard. A full list of officers will be named at this time and the charter membership of twenty-five names made up.

The list of officers and charter members will then be presented to the grand officers for their approval and a charter applied for. Full approval of Masonic officials of this district has been given the proposed Atwater lodge. Inspectors were at first slow to concede the necessity of a separate lodge in the district, but are now in full accord with the plan. P. E. Lipscomb, chairman of the committee on organization, said:

All temporary officers who were named at the first meeting several weeks ago will cease to function with election of permanent officers tonight. More than the maximum number of permitted charter members have already applied for admittance to the new lodge. It will therefore be necessary to select twenty-five applicants for the charter lists, allowing the remainder to join the lodge immediately after the granting of the charter. All Masons are urged to attend the weekly meetings held at the Arthur M. Gilman real estate office on Friday nights.

One hundred fifty-five million tickets were collected on one railroad, 700 miles long, in Europe last year.

PLAYERS' COMEDY PROVES BEST YET

'Wedding Bells,' Newest Play
By Dobinson Stock, Is Real 'Rib-Tickler'

If "Pinky" hadn't chewed Reggie's boot, why, the chances are he would never have got married. Reggie, not "Pinky." And if Reggie hadn't got married, Rosalie wouldn't have dyed her hair red!

No, this is not a soliloquy in a psychopathic ward. It sounds like it, but it's merely a recital of the outstanding events which lead up to the punch in "Wedding Bells" at the Playhouse theatre. The Dobinson Players have put on some splendid comedies since they took over the Playhouse last fall. They admit it. So does everyone else in Glendale who has seen them. But nothing more uproariously funny than this Salisbury Field "rib-tickler" has been seen anywhere in California this year. It created a sensation when it first showed in New York and is undoubtedly the funniest, the most witty comedy Fields ever wrote.

Commencing Monday, February 9, the Playhouse will be open every night of the week with a matinee on Saturdays. Prices will remain the same and there will be a new play every week except next week. "Wedding Bells" will continue all next week, to be succeeded on Monday, February 15, by "The Night Call." Carl Gantvoort will sing at every performance of the present offering.

J. E. Archer Now Located
On Colorado Corner
At Glendale

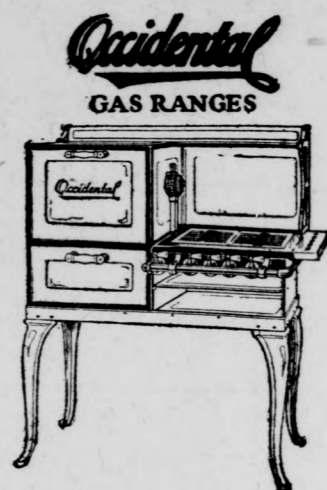

The J. E. Archer furniture store has moved to its new home in the building recently completed at the corner of East Colorado street and Glendale avenue by A. Ogassian. In the new location the furniture concern will be conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Archer, who came to Glendale some time ago from Ventura, where Mr. Archer was in business.

"We will endeavor to give Glendale a first class store with a line of furniture adequate to the needs of all. The low overhead in our instance and the fact that our location is out of the high rent zone will enable us to sell for less. We invite the public to inspect our stock and judge for themselves."

TILDEN MAY NOT PLAY NEXT YEAR

Tennis Star Is Expected to Quit Game on Account of Writing Rule

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Within the next twenty-four hours William T. Tilden, rated the greatest lawn tennis player that ever served an ace, will decide whether the season of 1925 will see him continue as a competitor or proceed with the writing of masterpieces in and about the sport in question.

This decision will be made tomorrow following the annual meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis association, at which the new amateur code will be offered for consideration and the good word is that Tilden will proclaim his retirement simultaneously with the adoption of the measure. Its passage is regarded as a formality.

Tilden is a member of the special committee that drafted the compromise code. Yet it is understood that he is so far from satisfied with its terms that he will withdraw his name from the lists of America's defenders of the Davis cup, to say nothing of those eligible for the national championships and all-important tournaments at which the products of his pen might be deemed essential to the happiness of the reading public.

The new code says, in effect, that no player may "cover" under his signature any tournament in which he is a competitor. He may confine himself to expert views on this and that in an analytical vein, but journalistic efforts upon the actual play will be taboo. This provision, according to the champion's friends, eliminates Tilden from important tournaments almost automatically. His articles would cease just about the time they might be expected to reach their greatest selling appeal.

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Tickets are selling rapidly for the Sid Terris-Sammy Mandell bout in the Garden tonight. There is no question that it will be one of the finest exhibitions of the art of boxing that has been seen in New York in a long time.

Terris, whose scheme of fighting is always a graceful retreat with his left jabbing out like a snake's tongue at his advancing opponent, will probably find Mandell unwilling to follow him and run into those bayonet-thrust lefts. The result will be, or probably will be, that Terris will have to come to close quarters.

If he does not the fans are liable to be disappointed. As showing what New York will stand for in the boxing line, figure out how often Terris gets hits to fight out of town. He fights outside of New York less than almost any fighter and yet he has a big rep.

This is because his fighting methods are not approved outside the metropolis. As a matter of fact New York stands for things that no other city will tolerate. There are fighters, for instance, who can fight regularly in New York and yet can get into Philadelphia with a whimper. And that goes for cities other than Philly.

Carl Sawyer May Play On Vernon Club Again

Carl Sawyer, former Glendale baseball player and leader of the White Sox last summer, when that team established a Pacific coast record by winning twenty-six consecutive games, and now wearing a Vernon uniform next season. Sawyer was sold last year by Vernon to the Wichita club, but refused to report to the Western league team, instead, playing with Glendale. He has been offered a contract by the Tiger owners, according to reports.

RELIEVE SICKNESS THROUGH GLANDS SAYS SCIENTIST

Dr. Serge Voronoff, an international authority on glands, says: "The brain, the nerves, the muscles, as well as the liver, the kidneys and all other organs would be incapable of playing any useful part without the aid of the glands. The functioning of our organs is no more than the result of the activity of our glands, and when the bodily functioning is disturbed, the cause, in most cases should be sought, not in the condition of the organ itself but in the condition of the gland which controls it."

Tomahawks and Baseball Indian in Big Show May be Whiz or Bloomer

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Written for The Evening News

What will the future hold for John Levi, "Charging Buffalo," the Haskell Indian athlete marvel who is awaiting his first big league tryout with the New York Yankees this spring?

Indians have written some interesting chapters in baseball. Some have shone as players, some have drawn attention by their failure to shine and others go down in history mainly as "troubles" who drove their managers to early gray hairs.

The two greatest Indians in the diamond annals are Chief Bender and Soxalexis.

Bender's achievements are well known to the younger generation of fans.

The "Chief" joined the Athletics in the spring of 1903 and for two years labored under a handicap. He was ill part of the season of 1904. An operation for appendicitis seemed to eliminate the trouble. Then just as he "got set" in 1905 he suffered attacks of kidney trouble. He recovered, however, and in the last week of the season clinched the pennant for the Mackmen by winning the deciding game from Washington.

But for Bender's work the Giants would have made a clean sweep of the inter-league series that followed. Bender won the only game credited to the Athletics. He turned back the mighty Giants without a run.

Bender appeared in the series of 1910, 1911, 1913 and 1914 for Connie Mack and won a total of six victories, which record has never been equaled.

In those four series he fanned fifty-nine men, another record that has never been equaled.

In the 1911 series he pitched and won the deciding game.

His failure to halt the slaughter of the Mackmen at the hands of the Braves in 1914 was a tragic blow to the cunning redman.

When Mack broke up his great machine Bender was released. He played with the Feds and then, when the peace pipe was passed around, joined the Phillies for a time.

Starred at Indian School

Bender is a Chippewa. He was born in Brainerd, Minn. He starred at first base for the Carlisle Indian school team and acted as relief pitcher. Then he went to Dickinson college at Carlisle and it was there he first took pitching seriously. He was playing with an independent team when the Mackmen signed him.

Chief Meyers was a graduate of Dartmouth. He had played three years in the minors when McGraw paid St. Paul $6000 in 1908 for him.

His main assets were his ability to soak the ball and a personality that "hook" with the fans. By the time the Giant team trekked north in the spring of 1909 he had been made almost an idol. For six seasons he caught for McGraw and held a place in the affections of the Gotham fans. They knew little, however, of the worries he caused McGraw.

Jim Thorpe's fame as a football player and track star at Carlisle needs no recounting. He will always be ranked as one of the greatest, if not the greatest, gridiron player of all time. He was one of the greatest ball carrying backs the game has ever seen.

In addition he had the cunning of his forefathers. He ran wild on the field, baffling his opponents with his startling plays.

It is generally agreed that McGraw signed Thorpe more because of his drawing power at the gate as an attraction than because of any thought he had the

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—A new impediment for the proposed return meeting of Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons in this state came to the surface today with the announcement that pressure may be brought to bear upon the New York State Athletic commission to force it to refuse sanction for the affair, if and when formal application for a permit is made.

Friends of Harry Wills, the perennial colored gent in the wood pile, are said to be behind the movement which is founded on the fact that Wills has a prior challenge on file.

This, according to the commission's code, would give Wills' deft precedence over that of Gibbons and failure to recognize this fact would place the board in the equivocal position of violating its own precepts.

Mickey Walker and Mike McGuire, among others, stand convicted of lese majeste in this state because they failed to accept challenges duly leveled at them, through the medium of the commission. Walker has been under suspension since time out of memory and all boxers who saw fit to frolic with him in alien rings suffered the same fate.

Tigue is outside the jurisdiction of the board because he never applied for a license here but the commission has let it be known that Michael is looked upon with heavy disfavors.

Few persons hereabouts believe that Wills has anything but an odds-on chance with Dempsey, one boxing man of more than ordinary horse sense put it today:

"I wouldn't walk across the street to see the thing. Wills has never shown me a thing."

SHOW IS SUCCESS

CLEVELAND, Feb. 6.—About 1200 automobiles were sold at the recent Cleveland show and dealers and accessory makers report an added demand.

great Indian might prove a wonder in baseball.

Thorpe looked good in the early spring days but his weakness soon became apparent. He could not hit curve ball pitching. Also the rigid discipline of the big show irked him. He drifted out in a few years.

Ben Tincup, a Cherokee, drew enough attention on the lots of Texas to draw a contract from the Phillies in 1913. He remained in the big show for several years and is now with Louisville, I believe. He never, however, basked in the limelight to any extent.

The Pirates gave Chief Moses Yellowhorse, product of the western ranches, a tryout a couple of years ago and kept him for a time. Soxalexis, the first of the redmen to acquire fame in baseball, is still ranked as one of the picturesque stars of the old days as well as one of the great players of his time. He was an outfielder with the old Cleveland club in the National league.

The success of the Indian in baseball has been varied. There is no way of measuring his chances—except by the rule of time. What will be the extent of Levi's success?

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Whether Jack Ryan will continue as coach of the University of Wisconsin football eleven depends upon the outcome of a conference which will be held his week between George Little, the newly appointed director of athletics at Madison, and Ryan.

If, as a result of this pow-wow, Ryan decides to retire, it is more than likely that Little himself will act as head coach of the Badger 1925 gridiron outfit.

Those who are familiar with the Wisconsin situation have every idea that Little will have certain definite statements to make to Ryan.

Whether rightly or wrongly, there is a feeling among alumni of the institution at Madison that Ryan would obtain better results were he to be more closely in touch with football throughout the year. He was employed as coach, it appears, on the understanding that he would be an all year round instructor and for this service his salary was fixed at $6000 a year.

Charges run to the effect that instead of putting in as much time as he might on his job he has been conducting an insurance business in Milwaukee except when required by the active football season to be in Madison. He owns a residence in Milwaukee.

Those who know of the uncertainties that mark the life of a football coach will affirm without hesitation that Ryan is an extremely wise young man. He is using his head as an intelligent person should. At the same time, there is the angle of those who want to see winning eleven at Madison to be considered.

John Richards, Ryan's predecessor as coach, used to spend a good part of his time abroad and one of the principal reasons for his retirement was because of the demand for a coach who would be on hand the year round.

It is said that Ryan came to Madison on the understanding that he would change this condition. But the feeling now obtains that he has not done so.

Little's problem is a big one. The belief is that he will retain Ryan who is an extremely able coach and who is an extremely able coach and who is an extremely able coach.

Should negotiations to this end fail and Little take up coaching in addition to his duties as athletic director, he would be doing no more than Alonzo Sagg has done for many years, and no more than T. E. Jones, the former athletic director at Wisconsin has done in respect to track and field coaching.

Even if Ryan stays there is every likelihood that Little will not remain aloof from the football field next fall. He is a splendid coach and has as well an inspiring personality.

William Spaulding, the Minnesota coach, had a difficult decision to make. He was in possession of an offer to succeed the late Dana Evans as athletic director at Northwestern as well as an offer of a two year contract to continue at Minnesota as coach.

FOR LINING COATS

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The keenest eye cannot tell where sky ends and sea begins and the same is true of the ensemble costume, for the coats are being lined with the same brilliant-printed silks which compose the gowns. RADIOS DEFEAT M. E. CHURCHMEN

Overcome Big Lead to Win in Last Quarter; Schedule For Fourth Week

By A. S. HALL

Or The Evening News Staff.

The third week of the City league basketball schedule was brought to a whirlwind close last night when the Radios and M. E. church teams battled at Harvard high school gym. It was anybody's game up to the final quarter, but in the last stanza the Radios forged to the front and copped the contest, 31 to 20.

The churchmen took the lead early in the game, getting three baskets in the first quarter while the Radios made only one free throw. Both started the scoring by dropping in the free throw. Weise, center for the churchmen, caged a basket, followed a few minutes later with another, and Hallam found the hoop before the quarter closed.

Wimmer added another point for the Radios early in the second quarter on a free throw. Weise followed suit, and then caged one from midfloor. Wolfe brought the count up to 11-2 for the churchmen with a nifty throw. Worthman made it three points for the Radios with a free throw. McKowan got the first basket for the Radios near the end of the quarter. Weise added another point on a free throw, the half ending 12 to 5, in favor of the churchmen.

Overcome Lead

The Radios went into the third quarter to overcome a seven-point lead. Schenck cut down the churchmen's lead with a basket. Worthman caged one from the side lines. McKowan broke through after the tossup and got a goal, and a few minutes later put his team in the lead with another basket. Colburn swung the lead back to the churchmen by locating the hoop after considerable fighting under the basket. McKowan put the Radios in the lead again with two pretty shots, the score standing 17 to 16 when the final quarter started.

Wimmer opened the fourth quarter by finding the Radios' basket, making the score 19 to 16. Weise put the churchmen in a threatening position with a shot from one corner of the court. McKowan made a layup, made it 21 to 18 in favor of Radios, and then Colburn scored the final two points for the churchmen, making the count 21 to 20. Playon on both teams were fighting desperately for victory, but the Radios pulled away, making five baskets, and holding the churchmen scoreless for the rest of the game. Radio baskets were caged in the following order: McKowan, Wimmer, McKowan, Schenck and McKowan.

The lineup:

To-Night's CARD

One of the greatest dishes of "flying fur" ever heaped up for Southern California boxing fans is on tap for them tonight when Spug Myers, a farmer boy from Pocatello, Idaho, locks horns with Ace Hudkins, Nebraska "wildcat" of Omaha, in the main event of ten rounds at the Hollywood stadium.

Both battlers, fresh from the farm, have a host of followers who believe each can trim the other. Since Myers blew into town he has built up a following by taking a decision over Joe Benjamin, for years king of the lightweights in California. Hudkins also has an enviable record here.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

By Special Leased Wire to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—With its schedule and many other details of the 1925 season arranged at the annual meeting in the Waldorf Astoria, the National league got back today cheerfully waiting for the big doings to get under way. All the members were cheerful, that is, except two or three of the managers, and club owners.

These disconsolate ones spent most of the day standing in the Waldorf lobby looking for some one who would stake them to some good players for 1925. But they looked in vain. Tail-enders have about as many helpful friends as a fat lady has gallant Sir Knights at her beck and call. There have to be tail-enders, of course, but let the Philadelphia club, or the Boston club get in a position where the other fellow can feel that he, at least, is not going to bring up the rear, and the procession moves cheerfully forward, with nobody even to cast a reassuring word back to the lagging brother.

The Boston club is hoping. It has some deals pending, but it has not much to show for its hard work so far except hope. It did get a good hall player from Seattle this winter in Welch, but that represents all the assets that have materialized.

Baseball loves gamblers about as well as it loves arsenic, as was evidenced by the speed with which the resolution of Judge Emil Fuchs of the judge thinks—and rightly—that gamblers should be punished by laws for second and subsequent offenses.

The resolution pledges the various National league members to work toward enactment of legislation of this sort in their respective states. This, of course, means a slap at the crowd that some years ago was suspected of being implicated in the 1919 world series fray, and it also would bear upon any more recent offenders who have devoted some of their time to betting on ball games.

Besides adopting a schedule—which was pleasing to all parties concerned, and will be until after the first week of postponements begins to gum things up—the league set some dates for the fiftieth anniversary celebration events in the various cities of the circuit. Chicago and Boston will stage a celebration at Boston on May 2. On May 13, Cincinnati and the Giants will celebrate in New York. The Giants took the hoodoo date without batting an eye. St. Louis will play Philadelphia celebrate on May 18 and the next day Pittsburgh will be the celebrating party at Brooklyn.

In the west the first of the dates is June 6, with Philadelphia at Pittsburgh. On June 9 New York will help Chicago put on a big party. Brooklyn will be at Cincinnati on June 12 and on June 18 St. Louis will hold its celebration with Boston's aid.

Each city will get its nice little golden jubilee pennant and each will be permitted to work out the celebration plans according to its own ideas.

The league was greatly pleased at receipt of a message from President Coolidge congratulating it on being fifty years old and still able to keep going with all the sprightliness of youth.

Good news for the umpires. They are to get their added money out of the world series and out of city series so far as the National league is concerned. The same staff of umpires was named, with the addition of Peter J. McLaughlin.

Some measures of more technical description than anything else were passed regarding players on waiver. The decision really means that a virtual maximum waiver price of $4000 has been established. Even that seems too high, because no one will pay $4,000, for instance, for Fonseca or Caveney of Cincinnati. Everybody seems to desire youth, and there is not enough of it to spread over the National league slice of bread.

TOOTS MONDT WINS

GREELEY, Colo., Feb. 6.—Toots Mondt, heavyweight grappler of Greeley, was the victor in two straight falls over Goho Gobar, British West Indian, here last night. The first fall went to the local man after twenty minutes of wrestling, while it took seventeen minutes to conquer the Britisher for the second fall.

District Head Speaks Before Thursday Club

there by clubwomen for those less fortunate than themselves.

"I know of small clubs that are assisting girls through college, clubs that raise substantial sums by means of tournaments for worthy charities; clubs who visit the county farm; clubs that sew for twelve girls in college; and make garments for girls in a convalescent home; a club that has adopted an invalid ex-service boy, visiting him regularly and assuming his care; a club that is assisting eighteen girls through college; another is clothing indigent children in a school.

"Large clubs are like servants that are given many talents; clubs have sold hundreds of dollars' worth of craft work for the ex-service men; one club sells hand-work for the Indians; one is raising money to build a girls' college dormitory. These are some of the things that women's clubs have accomplished in a material way, and which come secondary to the spiritual good that has been accomplished.

Security Defined
"Security is defined as 'freedom from fear, assurance of power.' By these things the clubs are making themselves a power in every community. Are these principles applicable to the work of the federation? All officers of the federation are as sympathetic and as ready to serve you as I am.

"The measure in which the federation expresses sympathy or service is largely due to the attitude of your club. If we had more money, more talents at our command we would be able to do much more for you. We wish that every club would send representatives to the meetings of the presidents' council and to any of the twenty-seven departmental meetings in which they are interested.

"We want every club to send its president to the district convention. I believe the women's clubs of today are highly successful in business."

Referring to a former question of the club merging with the Tuesday Afternoon club or remaining a separate unit of the federation, she said: "I am glad to see you are keeping a separate identity, and I believe that, with consistent team work, you will meet with success and reach your goal, and your clubhouse will become an accomplished fact. A clubhouse is a great asset."

Endowment Fund
She emphasized the vital importance of the endowment fund and the need of immediate action if the clubs would succeed in the efforts to save the memorial redwood grove. Telling of the incidents that led to her becoming a member of the "Save the Redwoods League," her closing words were quoted from Mrs. Thomas G. Winter: "A women's club is a group of women organized in every community that must be depended upon looking toward the betterment of life."

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery gave a brief talk on "Service." She said: "Service is the biggest word in club life today, and cannot be overworked. Service is the golden key that unlocks the door of club finance. In order to make a success financially, you must have the co-operation of every woman in the club, every member must put her shoulder to the wheel. And you will get joy out of working."

She gave many helpful hints on details of club finance and touched on the open meeting as one of the things that "we as women should do for those who find it impossible to become members."

Mrs. Evelyn G. Pierce gave two readings, the first, "Greeting," by Vance Cook, and second, "Two Preachers," with whistling obligato, by Mrs. Fern Carlock.

Mrs. Carrie Campbell presided, and Mrs. E. J. Morgan reported on the month's work of the Glendale Auxiliary of the Children's hospital. Business routine was omitted and, following the close of the program, the afternoon was given over to an informal reception. Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee, Mesdames E. V. Bacon, M. C. Newton, S. J. Vanline, A. Vaulet, E. J. Morgan, F. A. Archer and Adelaide Imler.

Patriotic Clubs Favor Building In Glendale

ing were outlined. It was stated that all patriotic organizations would be represented and have equal voice in the management of the building. All present pledged the support of their organizations. Mrs. Saylor and Mr. Gillette were named to serve with Dr. Mabry to make investigations of the building project and report at a meeting February 12 at the same place.

Noted Flyers to Take Part In Aerial Meet

dent D. H. Smith of the Chamber of Commerce, will be carried to every city by Dr. T. C. Young, W. B. Kinner and other Glendale flyers, asking their participation in the great aerial event. Accompanying each invitation will be a novel air map, now being prepared by Secretary Howard I. Wood of the chamber and Dr. Young.

This map will show air currents, hours of flying visibility, field entrances at different hours, and much other data concerning routes from different California cities to Glendale. The map will incidentally bring out the fact that there are more hours of flying visibility per month in Glendale than in any other city of the Southland, a tremendous advantage for the local airport in future commercial flying activities.

To Offer Trophies
Trophies for winners in the competitive and stunt events on the two-day program will be offered by organizations and individuals interested in aviation. Many of these are Glendaleans. Chambers of Commerce that participate in the meet, although they are by no means urged, may furnish trophies of one kind or another if they so desire. Participation will not be limited to cities having commercial or military flying fields. All cities are invited to take part in the hope that many now without suitable airports will realize the growing importance of commercial aviation and will join the ranks of those seeking its promotion in Southern California. Cities that now have airports beside Glendale are: Santa Monica, San Diego, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Long Beach, Ontario, Arcadia and San Luis Obispo.

Each city in the southland will be expected to send delegations by airplane. More than 100 machines are expected at the airport during the two days. The banquet at which organization of a Southern California Aeronautical association will take place will be held on Saturday night, March 14, at a location yet to be decided upon. At this affair Donald Douglas, builder of the World Flight machines and of the eight-passenger planes which will soon ply between San Francisco and Glendale carrying passengers, will be the principal speaker.

An announcement was made today by Dr. Young that cities and Chambers of Commerce that are without means of securing planes in which their delegates can fly to the meet, will be able to secure such planes either from Clover field, Santa Monica, or Rodgers field, Long Beach.

Frank Booth Proposed For City Councilman

will open at 111 South Kenwood street in a few days with a full line of high-grade coffees, teas, spices, extracts, sugar, cocoa, chocolate, baking powder, and home-made peanut butter, salad dressing, Indian mango chutney and Worcestershire sauce. It was in London as a young man that he gained his experience in this line of business, serving as a taster and blender in old mining lane.

Two years ago Mr. Booth ran for Glendale city councilman, being defeated by a small majority. His hat is now in the ring again, he declares.

Prize competitions for school children will be one of the methods adopted by Mr. Booth to introduce his teas, coffees and other articles to the public.

"Almost every day since going out of business, I have received telephone calls from former customers, telling me they are unable to get any brand of coffee they like as well as the blend I used to distribute. This insistence of the public has had a great deal to do with influencing me to resume my former business."

Mr. Booth is also a pharmaceutical chemist and states that from time to time he will introduce and place on the market certain specialties for which he holds valuable formulas.

Methodist Women Hold Meeting and Program

First Methodist church women met yesterday at the church, over 200 being present. In the morning the aid business meeting was directed by Mrs. P. O. Lucas, president. After luncheon Mrs. W. B. Collins, president of the foreign missionary society, had charge. The home missionary society, of which Mrs. Nellie Wheeler is president, gave the program. Mrs. R. W. Bolton was chairman. The speaker was Mrs. Woods, national supply secretary, of Omaha. A demonstration of the group work was given by the Mrs. George O. Robinson group.
